Muniz Attacked Privacy, Roe v. Wade, And Called Fetuses Human Beings During A Hearing

MUNIZ QUESTIONED WHETHER THERE WAS A PRIVACY RIGHT TO ABORTION AFTER ROE V. WADE WAS OVERTURNED DURING A HEARING ON RIGHT TO PRIVACY AMENDMENT IN FLORIDA'S CONSTITUTION

Muniz Questioned Whether The Florida Supreme Court Should Continue To Recognize A Privacy Right To Abortion After The Supreme Court's "Eviscerated" Roe v. Wade. According to the Florida Phoenix, "Chief Justice Carlos Muñiz questioned Friday whether the Florida Supreme Court should continue to recognize a privacy right to abortion in light of the U.S. Supreme Court's repudiation last summer of Roe v. Wade, which left the states free to enact their own restrictions on the procedure.[...] Yet 'the same entity' — the U.S. Supreme Court — that found an implied privacy right under the U.S. Constitution 'has told us that it was a mirage. They've eviscerated it,' Muñiz continued. He referred to Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization. 'Should it matter to us that the entire foundation of the asserted right here, essentially the [U.S.] Supreme Court which created the thing in the first place has now said that it was egregiously wrong from Day One? Should that matter to us?" [Florida Phoenix, 9/8/23]

During A Hearing, Muniz Referred To Fetuses As "Human Beings." According to the Florida Phoenix, "During oral arguments in Planned Parenthood of Southwest and Central Florida v. [Florida Phoenix, 9/8/23]

Muniz Described Roe v. Wade As An "Abomination" And "Semantically Absurd" In Terms Of Privacy. According to the Florida Phoenix, "On Friday, the chief justice allowed himself to muse about the consensus in 1980. 'Roe v. Wade may have been an abomination, it may have been semantically absurd to talk about that in terms of privacy. But for better or worse, I mean, that was part of our cultural kind of lexicon,' he said to Whitaker." [Florida Phoenix, 9/8/23]
